CLARK COMMENDS THE UNIVERSITY

THOUSANDS APPLAUD COMMENTARY REMARKS ON THE STATE COLLEGE.

SENDS SON TO "MISSOURI"

Congressman Details Reason Why He Chose Local Institution Rather Than One of Those Near Washington, D. C.

Moberly, Mo.—The largest crowd ever gathered in Moberly assembled at the September Show You congress in this city, and thousands struggled to obtain admission to the Opera house, where Champ Clark delivered an eloquent and patriotic welcome to returned Missourians. At the close of his address thousands cheered to the echo his remarks concerning the State University, and his reasons for sending his own son to Missouri University rather than to an eastern institution.

In Randolph county there is much interest being manifested in Constitutional Amendment No. 11, to be voted on November, which provides permanent, separate support for the University, and the speaker's remarks touched a popular chord.

"There is one good college, and one good university in Washington, and a dozen within a half day's journey of Washington City—among them Johns Hopkins, Princeton, and the University of Virginia. I chose to send my son to the University of Missouri. I did it for three reasons: 1. Because the University of Missouri now ranks high among the educational institutions of America, is growing better every day, and deserves the patronage of Missourians. I hope to see it become the crowning glory of this imperial commonwealth. 2. Because, being a Missourian, himself, I wanted him while in his plastic state with Missourians, and to become thoroughly saturated with the history of the state and the aspiration of her people. 3. Because at the University of Missouri he will form the acquaintance of hundreds of bright, ambitious boys, most of whom, let us hope, will remain in Missouri, and with whom he must fight the battle of life, for four of the best mules could not pull him out of the state.

"I am eager to see the day when a degree from the University of Missouri will be of equal weight with a degree from any university, not only in America, but from any in Europe. If I had my way about it, the teaching there would be so thorough that that would be the speedy and inevitable result, and I would make the institutions of learning in Missouri so good that there would be no reasonable excuse for a Missouri boy or girl to go elsewhere to study any branch of education whatsoever."

PROGRESSIVE FARMING PAYS.

President Taft and Corn Man Agree as to Big Returns.

Recent discoveries of the Missouri Agricultural College demonstrate the truth of President Taft's statement that "we have arrived at a time in the development of this country and the world where old methods of agriculture must be discarded if we would keep on with the procession."

The time was when the work of an Agricultural College was regarded by the practical farmer with a combination of pity and distrust, but the results of Missouri's Agricultural College have been such as to convince hundreds of thousands of farmers as to the benefits of scientific agricultural education.

Through the investigations of Prof. S. M. Jordan, "The Corn Man" of the State University's Agricultural College, a method of increasing the yield of corn 25 bushels per acre has been conclusively demonstrated in southwest Missouri. Leading farmers have no doubt that by adopting Prof. Jordan's ideas an average increase from five to ten bushels per acre can be secured throughout the state.

Missouri Should Not Trail Nebraska.

Your children are entitled to as good educational advantages as the boys and girls of Nebraska. The assessed valuation of Missouri property is over $350,000,000 more than the combined assessments of Nebraska and Iowa, yet Nebraska alone, with an assessed valuation of nearly 1,000 million dollars less than Missouri, contributes three cents per capita to its state university to every one cent which Missouri contributes. If Amendment No. 11 carries on November 8th, Missouri University need not take a back seat for any institution.

A Stayer It always was—it is today—the most nearly perfect heating stove on earth. It has never been changed—only in style of ornamentation. Principle of construction the same as it was forty years ago and it is still the best—the first and foremost—the most successful stove in America.

Over four hundred imitations and never a one so good—or that approached it—in doing the business of heating—of holding the fire—saving the fuel and lasting qualities. Millions of good people know it and will vouch for it—and so will you if you buy it and try it. We guarantee it stronger than anything else we sell. So the name "Round Oak" on the leg. Sometimes they call an imitation "Round Oak."
